FROM THOU TAP †

Grimm Artisanal Ales Still Life $7 / 12oz

Brooklyn, New York

Grisette is a crushable, thirst-quenching historical Belgian ale originally brewed to refresh coal miners at the end of a long day. Still Life is our interpretation, brewed for the autumn season: a tart, funky farmhouse ale produced with a mixed culture fermentation. Red Jacket apple cider from the Finger Lakes region of New York lends seasonal flavor, while spelt provides a rustic grain character. This unboiled, unfiltered ale is dry hopped with German Hallertau and Czech Saaz. 3.8% abv

Ritterguts Gose $6 / 12oz

Borna, Germany

Ritterguts Gose is a top-fermenting, sour and slightly salty tasting special beer of Leipzig. The Gose is an own, very old beer type and does not correspond to the German purity requirement. It is brewed traditionally with coriander and salt - thereby and by the additional lactic acid fermentation her quite special characteristic gets the Gose. It has certain resemblances to the Lichtenhainer beer as well as to the Belgian Geuze. 4.2% abv

Thiriez Extra $6.50 / 12oz

Esquelbecq, France

This is one rich and très hoppy golden ale. Working in his little rustic brick and wood beamed building, Daniel Thiriez makes this earthy, punchy, flavorful stuff in very small batches especially for the stout-hearted Frères de la Bière, a local caterie of special friends united by their thorough enjoyment of a rough and ready unrelenting farmhouse brew. Mon Dieu, that's good! 4.5% abv

De La Senne Stoutarik $6.50 / 16oz

Brussels, Belgium

Stoutarik is a classic Belgian Stout -- it's only 4.5%, contains no spices, won't make your tongue stick to the roof of your mouth, but we defy anyone to just drink one. Roasted malts and unmalted roasted barley give layers of dark bitter, chocolatey flavors, and like all De La Senne beers, this one is hopped to the max for drinkability.

Pretty Things Lovely Saint Winefride $6.50 / 12oz

Cambridge, Massachusetts

A Brown Lager using malted barley and hops and a single decoction mash from the German tradition. Decoction is a slightly complicated, time intensive and little used technique (on this continent anyway) that insured temperature certainty in the age before real temperature control. This beer spent a long 55 days in the tank. That's a pretty respectable lager, with the yeast continuing to do their thing. 7% abv
